Judges Module

- At the end of each round, a scoring pad will appear.
- Score the round by selecting the winner, followed by scoring the opponent. As in a real scoring pad, you cannot correct your score).
- Once you score the round, a reasoning board will appear.
- Select 3 reasons as to why you scored the round the way you did. At the end of the bout, the system will offer feedback on your score's consistency with your reasoning.
- You will have between 45-60 seconds to score and offer your reasoning, but you do not have to take that long. Once you are done, simply move to the next round. If you take more than the allotted time, the next bout will start automatically at the end of the allocated time.
- In most bouts you will have more than one attempt to score, so score as often as you like, up to the number of allowed attempts. The last attempt will be maintained in the system until deleted by the supervisor.

Referee Module

- At the end of reach round, a series of questions and scenarios will appear.
- You will have 3 minutes to answer each question, but you can move on to the next scenario once you have answered a question.

- If you select the wrong answer, you will continue until you get the correct answer (this is not a test, it is a training tool).
- Once all scenarios are complete, you will see a summary of the questions, with some statistics on how your answers compared to the group.

Have fun with the system, and keep your officiating skills fresh! Go in and score and ref as many bouts as you like. Over time we will upload more bouts. To see new bouts, simply sort on the Status Bar by Completed/Not Completed bouts.
